GROWER FEATURE

Sunview Vineyards

Description

Sunview is a three-generation family run conventional and organic table grape grower. They are located in the San Joaquin Valley in California's Central Valley.

A Note from the Grower:

Every stage of our family operation is built and managed with several goals in mind: Provide our consumers and customers with the safest premium quality fruits available while being good stewards of the land we farm. We believe the only way to assure this level of quality, food safety, and stewardship is through close supervision and attention to detail on our farms, from our specialized plant breeding to growing, and from harvesting to packing.

The Zaninovich family has lived and farmed in the Central Valley of California for over three generations. We are proud to bring the fruits of our vineyards to family tables across the globe. We recognized that the long sunny days in the beautiful San Joaquin Valley create ideal climate conditions for growing grapes. We are a hard-working group of farmers and decades of practical experience coupled with technological sophistication have enabled us to sell and ship our grapes around the world, while maintaining the highest quality standards associated with family-run businesses.
